But the economic hit is, as you know, significant. A number of us wrote to you - and I know you get a lot of letters. A number of us wrote to you earlier this summer. We did not write about the Chinese currency. We wrote about the Japanese currency. And we wrote about the encroachment that we see occurring with respect to automotive sales. Obviously, I am preaching to the choir here with Senator Stabenow sitting next to me. It is one thing for us to be concerned about the Japanese manipulating their currency. It is one thing for us to worry about the Chinese. We know the Japanese are doing it, and their interventions in markets this year just in the space of the first 9 months of this year. What they have done before pales by comparison to what they have done previously to try to keep the value of the yuan low. So as we focus on our concerns about China and what is happening, whether it is the loss of manufacturing jobs or other jobs to China, I would just ask us to keep in mind our friends in Japan, our allies in Japan, and what they are doing and the implications that the manipulation of their currency has for whether it is the Daimler-Chrysler plant in Newark, Delaware, or plants in New Jersey, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, North Carolina, or Michigan. They are real...
