Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Cookery for Working-Men s Wives The school, though primarily aiming at humble things, seems likely to have the broader effect of raising the plane of life and morals. The pupils are in two classes (1), mothers and unmarried women over twenty, and (2) girls of twenty and under. Girls are not generally received until they have left school. Each class meets twice a week for lessons in cooking and once a week for darning and mending. Instruction is also given in starching and ironing. In the leisure hours of every day Miss Gordon goes, as a friendly adviser, to houses in the district, wherever she is asked - sometimes to pupils houses, sometimes to others - giving practical instructions upon all household matters. The mothers class this last season numbered over two hundred, the younger class about one hundred and thirty. The attendance was naturally more regular in the latter. The numbers in both classes have been far too large for one teacher. From seventy-five to one hundred should be the maximum number, and for the next season additional teachers will be employed. The two classes represent about two hundred families, all of which, and a great many more, have been often visited by the teacher. The pupils are the wives and daughters of workmen in ship-yards and machine-shops, and of common laborers. The teacher thinks there is a visible improvement in the condition of at least thirty families, with hopeful signs in more. The gain is in personal neatness, in manners, speech, and general tone. The houses are more tidy and the children better clothed, and there are other cheerful signs, such as flower-pots...
